

Special working to design

Zali places its own experience at the disposition of its customers to work with them for the design, and subsequently for the realisation of the details in granite for miscellaneous applications.

Bedplates for measuring machines, machine tools, laser applications, micro-electronic, micro-milling machines, spark machining, research centre structures, test benches.

